

When the annular blowout preventer is used, prior to the well bore pressure reaching the rated working pressure of the annular an alternate BOP such as a pipe ram will be energized.